CASE RALLY SENIORS

THE '86 CASE RALLY

After four years of either coming in last place or being disqualified by last-minute rules, the SENIOR CLASS of '87 finally pulled it off. WE WON the Case Rally.

This year it was Coach T.'s turn in the hot seat, sort of an initiation as first year head coach. The superior winning SENIOR script dealt with Coach T.'s search for the key to victory. As they search for the key, Coach T. and his sidekick Gerry (Chris Chasse and Andy Buckley) meet an odd assortment of characters, including Snow White, Peter Pan, Diaper Man, and Madonna (Tara MacDonald, Todd Plosker, Rob DeMoura, and Kelly Finnerty). Most notable were the performances of Liz Furtado and Ed Judge in their roles of Pee Wee Herman and Rambo. Ed also helped to lead the class cheer.

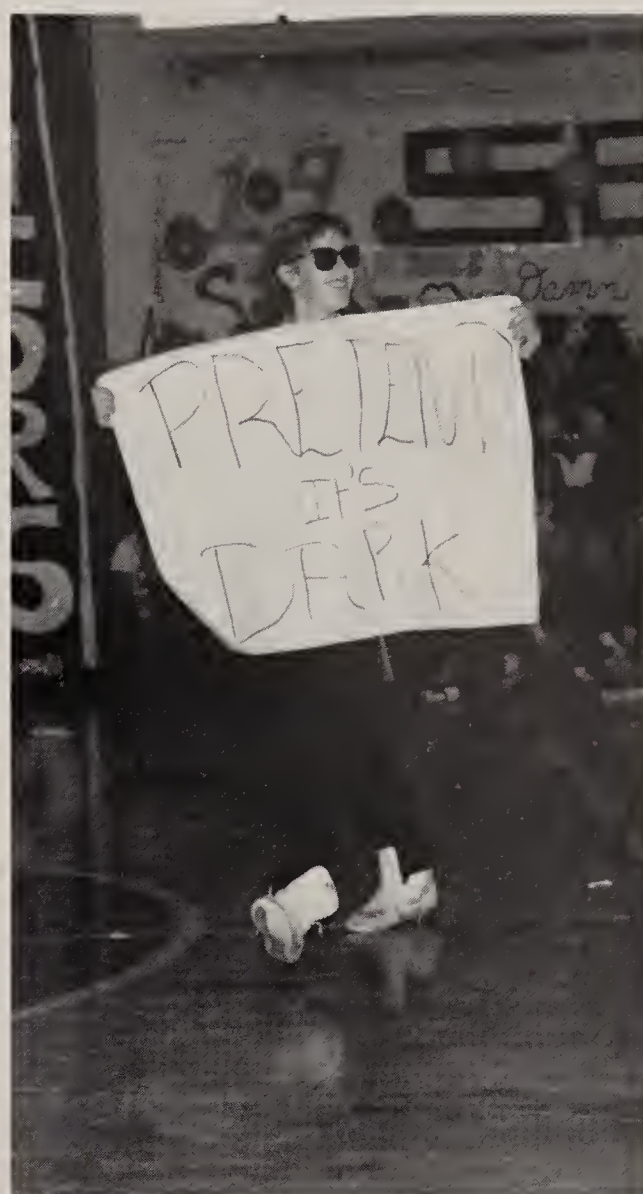

The sophomore and the freshman came in second and third place respectively with only a point difference. The dismal juniors deservedly came in last place, and it serves them right for stealing Our cheer (even if the SENIORS did do it better).

The '86 Rally proved once again that the seniors rule the school. A.B.

Our CROSS-COUNTRY season went for us this year. The team was energetic, hard-working, and dedicated. Some highlights of the season were the following: the boys' win over Stang, the girls' win over Coyle-Cassidy and over Case, and the many record-breaking races of Christine Hopkins. Chris made it to the All-State meet and ran in New York for the regionals. It was a successful season for the "BIG BLUE MACHINE". This year's RAIDERS were led by four-year veterans-Tim Collins, Chris Hopkins, Elisabeth Furtado- and next year's team will be led by: Pat Lockett, Karen Dubriel, Heidi Thompson, and Dave Sullivan. None of our accomplishments could ever be achieved without the support and guidance of our coach-COACH B!!!

FIELD HOCKEY

The Field Hockey season of 1986 turned out to be an unforgettable one. Their season began in the early days of July, with weekly weight room workouts and jogs across town. Formal practice began in August, headed first by the four co-captains; April Blankenship, Cheryl Iodice, Pam Blake, and Tara McDonald, and then by head coach Sue Curt. From the very beginning, the Raiders were a definite threat to the entire Southeastern Massachusetts Conference, and they dominated most games. With the help of team standouts, such as goalie Kathy Mendes, halfback Lisa Geary, and forwards Diane Bernardo and Krissy Cwikla, the team strived toward their ultimate goal of the state tournament. They completed many challenging and memorable games, and faced such rivals as the D-Y Dolphins and the Case Cardinals boasting two wins against our arch enemies, the Cardinals. After hard work and dedication to the team, the school, and themselves, the Raiders entered the State Tournament with a game against Needham. They accomplished the first part of their goal by crushing this team with a 6-0 record breaking score. They faced defeat with their next match against State Champions Walpole, but walked off the field with the pride of knowing what dedication, team work, and togetherness can really do for a team.

SOCCER

The 1986 Somerset High Soccer team finished the season with a 3-4-1 league record, bringing the team into third place in Division II. The team's overall record was 4-11-3 with impressive games against Division I powerhouse teams: Durfee (2-2), and New Bedford (0-2).

Captained by Mike Sousa, Scott Medeiros, and Paul Faria, the team had only two returning starters, and many first time players. Nevertheless, the team worked hard together, scoring a total of 17 goals, some first time players even improved enough to become starters. Two players, starters Mike Sousa and Thad Ward were nominated to the Herald News All Star Team.

VOLLEYBALL

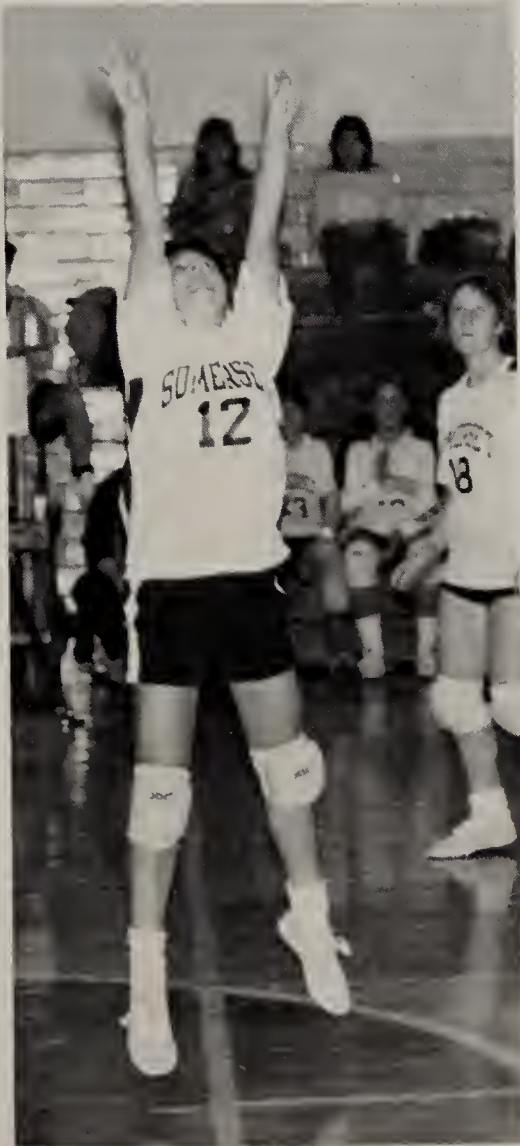

The 1986 Volleyball season was a rebuilding one. Only returning one starter and having a new coach, Ted Porada, did not cause a problem for the Raiders until the middle of the season. The team jumped out to a 5-1 record, until the lack of experience set in. From this point on, the season had its ups and downs.

The toughest and most exciting matches were the ones that were stretched to three games. These were against Case, S.E.M.C. Division I State Champs, and Durfee, S.E.M.C. Division I League Champs. Although they were recorded as losses, those three matches were the team's best outings.

The final record of the season was eight wins and ten defeats. Senior Captain Jennifer Howard was named to the S.E.M.C. Division I All Star Team and the Fall River Herald News All Star Team. Next year's Captain will be junior Lisa Mongeon.

FOOTBALL

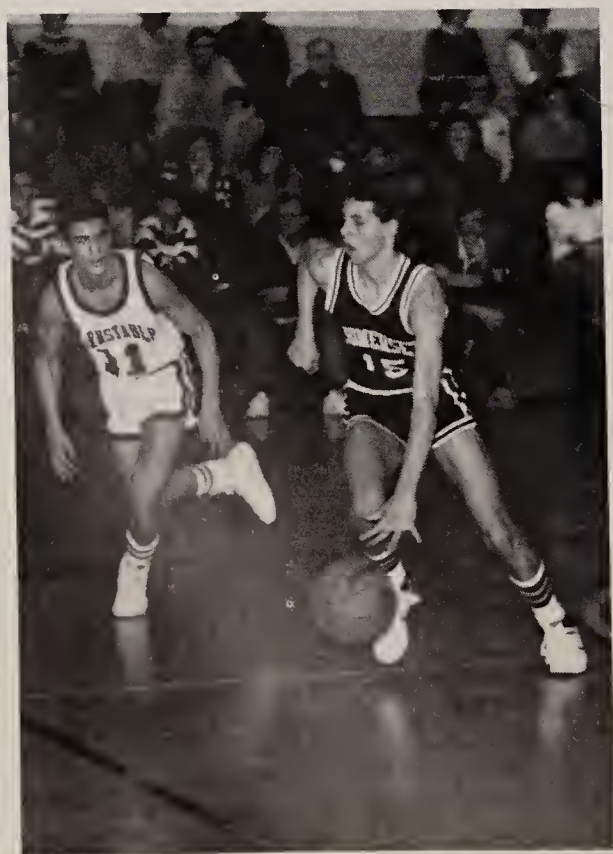

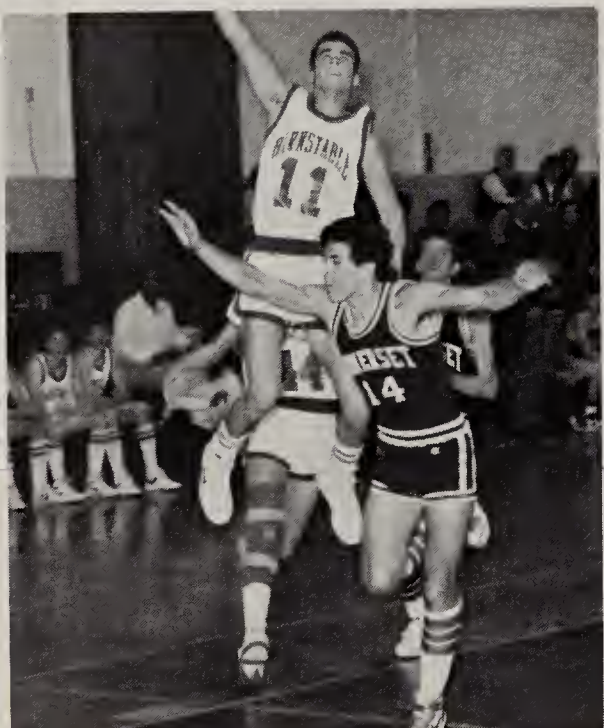

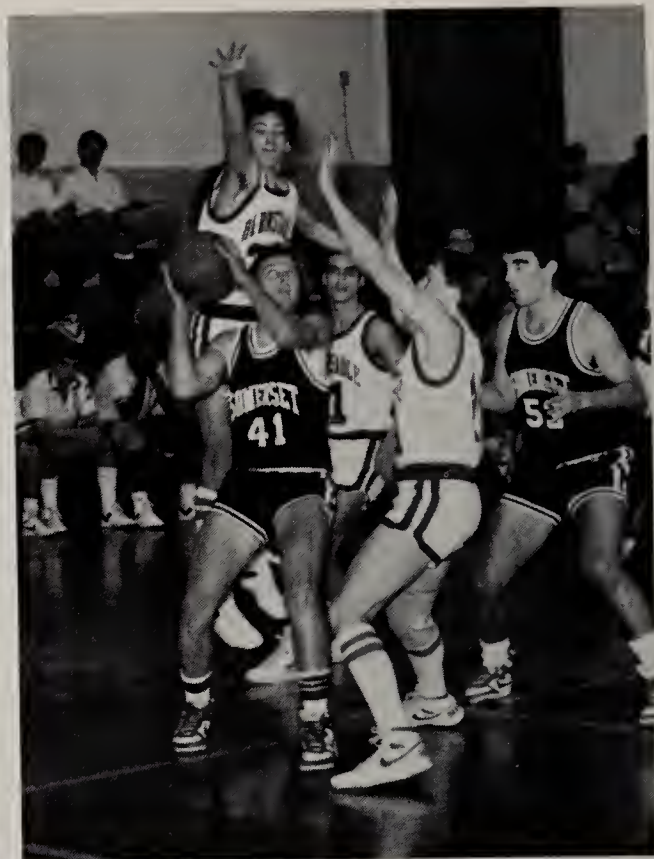

Although the 1986 Blue Raider football team had a losing record of 1-8-1, first year coach Tavares thought of the season as a learning experience. The seniors along with juniors and sophomores were loyal and dedicated. The captaines were Mike Petrillo, Ed judge, and Todd DiManno. Chris Chasse received the Paul Wayne Ferris Memorial Award. Dan Rockcliffe won the P.M.A. Award. Scott Jasparro won the Coaches' Award. The team's offensive M.V.P. award went to Frank Travassos who had eighteen receptions. Ed Judge was the team's defensive M.V.P. along with the nomination for the Otto Graham Award. Ed and Todd DiManno were selected to the Southeastern Mass. Conference Western Division Coaches' All-Star Team. The seniors would like to thank Coaches Soares, Day, and Wright. Good luck to the underclassmen and to Head Coach Tavares.

CHEERLEADERS

Somerset High School's Football Cheerleaders had perhaps the longest season of any other varsity sport this year. The season, which lasted for eight months, started in April and ended late November. The sixteen girls practiced hard all summer to perfect their new, jazzy style of crisp, short cheers and newly acquired hand hoops. The football cheerleaders were captained by senior Susan Arruda and coached by Mrs. Sheila Ward

Because the girls must try out every season, a new squad was selected for the 1986-87 basketball season. Stacey Souza was chosen as captain and the squad was coached by Sue Curt and Sheila Ward. The basketball cheerleading squad continued to demonstrate their new style. The new way of cheering was complemented by short one word cheers. The fourteen girls even stood up in the stands during each basketball game.

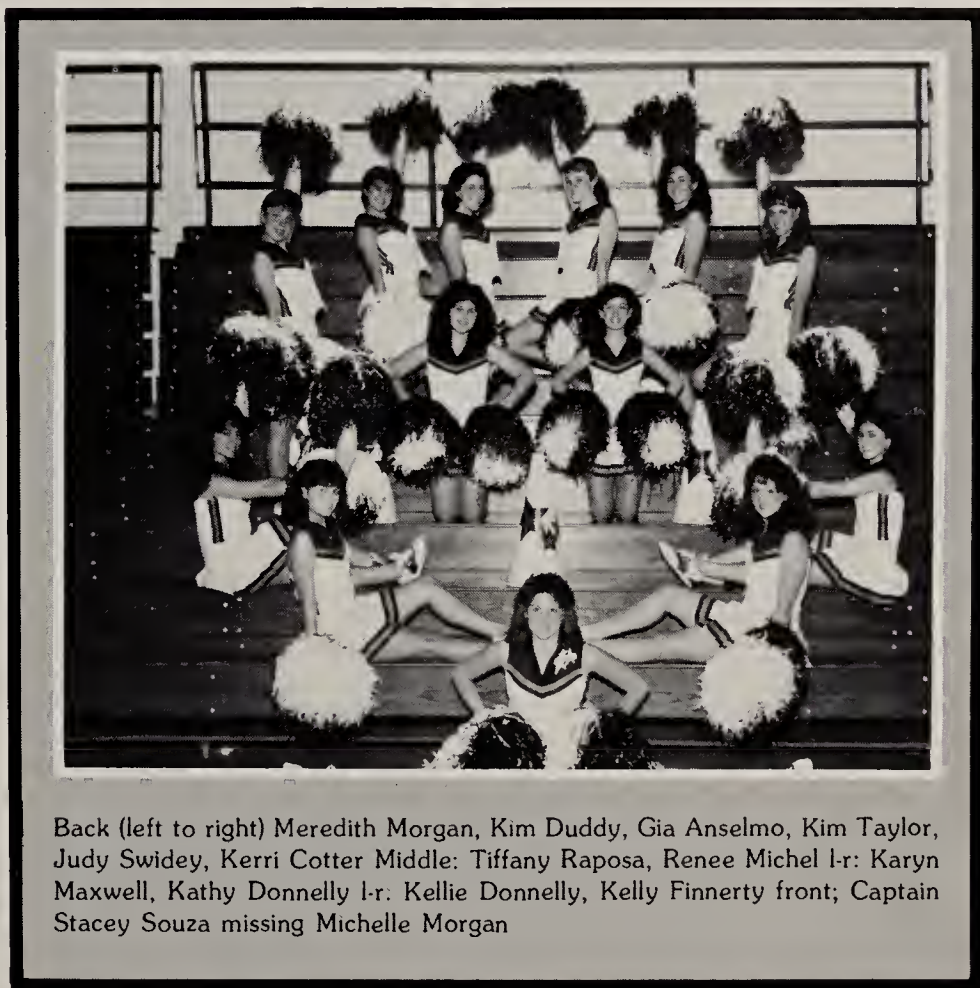

Though the football and basketball cheerleaders did not compete as a team, they were considered a varsity sport. The Somerset High School Cheerleaders were an important part of the total team effort with their never ending spirit and enthusiasm.

IN MEMORY

RONALD ROBERT REBELLO
1969-1986

"WE CAN'T FORGET"

We can't forget your tender smile
That got us through the day.
It made us think only of you and pushed other thoughts away.

We can't forget your tender love
That helped us when we were down.
You talked the sadness out of us
and helped us off the ground.

We can't forget your special touch
That showed us how you cared.
The happiest days of our lives were
The times that we all shared.

But most of all we can't forget or at least you ought to know
That Ronnie "you're someone special"
and we all love you so.

by Kelly

Love is a river that flows into streams
As the thought of his laughter flutters our dreams.

We loved him lord, we loved him so,
I only wish there was a way to let him know.

The pain we feel is so very strong
If he only knew what he did was so wrong.

You know everyone looks for peace of mind
Although sometimes it's not easy to find.

So if you find a friend, then you'll find love.
But don't forget there is always someone up above.

TARA MCDONALD, SENIOR CLASS
PRESIDENT

Our four years at Somerset High have been special ones. We've worked hard over the years and we have accomplished quite a lot. Our senior year has been a memorable one. There were many changes. We won the Case Rally. We ventured to New York. And, we proved ourselves to one of the most enthusiastic senior classes ever to come through Somerset High School.

In remembering everything we've done, I can't forget the many people who have helped us along the way. The teachers, administrators, coaches, and the rest of the staff were all instrumental in helping us through Somerset High.

I would like to thank the officers and representatives who served our class this year. Liz Furtado, Dee De-Marco, Jodi Velozo, and Marc Haslam did a great job serving our class to the fullest.

I would also like to thank, Mr. Ken Day, who helped us in everything we did this year.

Above all, thanks to the members of the class of '87. You made serving the class as president very enjoyable. Good luck and best wishes to everyone.

Tara

OUR YEARS AT SHS: A RETROSPECTIVE

BY NEIL SWIDEY

FRESHMAN YEAR: INITIATION INTO THE SCHOOL CELLAR

We entered as freshman. Intimidated slightly by the overwhelming newness of Somerset High School, we started slowly. By the first week, though, most of us had discovered at least how to get to our classes (except study hall in room 511 — “Where the heck is 511, anyway?”). We were cautious and quiet for the most part. Not yet participating, we were merely absorbing at this point. We were always on time for class, providing we knew how to get there.

By mid-year we felt more secure at SHS. We knew our way around. We were wise to the ploys of upperclassmen. Consequently, sales of elevator passes had decreased appreciably by this time.

Towards the end of the year, we were ready to climb out of the “cellar of SHS” and become sophomores. We were tired of freshmen life — tired of study hall, tired of the “freshman tables” in the library, and tired of the countless lectures we had received on “the immaturity of the freshman class.” We were anxious to shed our sub-human status.

SOPHOMORE YEAR: THE SAGA CONTINUES

We were finally sophomores — integral (?) members of the elite SHS community. Free periods — we finally had them. We could now look down upon the freshmen still stuck in the shackles of frosh life. Though we could identify with them, we showed no mercy in gloating about our newly-acquired “freedom”.

Academically, sophomore year presented most of us with a markedly tougher schedule than we had been used to in the past. The demands of our classes intensified; our workloads increased. A typical teacher admonition went something like this: “I am not going to take you by the hand as your teachers did last year. You will have to become independent.”

As the year neared its end, we became tired once again. We were tired of the workload, tired of being booted from the library ritualistically, and most importantly, tired of listening to each of our teachers explain how “sophomore” meant “wise fool”, and how we fit perfectly into this paradoxical category. It was time to move on.

JUNIOR YEAR: IT CAN'T BE MUCH LONGER NOW

Junior year brought us full status as upperclassmen. Nice title, but what did it give us? Answer: not much. Regardless, junior year brought us some real changes. Many of us had tougher classes and part-time jobs, and during this year, most of us finally obtained those coveted driver's licenses.

We could handle the tougher classes. Though we were told they would require much homework and studying, well, we could get around that somehow. And we did.

We could also handle the part-time job. It was even enjoyable at first — new people, new experience, and above all, extra cash. After a while, though, it became just another chore, a drudgery which we had to tolerate.

The driver's license most of us got during our junior year was long-awaited. Now this was freedom. We no longer had to wait for rides — we could drive ourselves. We were even allowed to, brace yourself, park in none other than the SHS student parking lot. Who could ask for more?

Junior year ended with nagging from our parents and guidance counselors to start looking around at colleges. “Come down and use the Career Resource Computer — it's an invaluable tool” could be frequently heard. Though the temptation to drop everything, sprint down to the guidance office, and put our future in the hands of a machine with the programming capabilities of a pencil sharpener was strong, most of us, nonetheless, resisted. We were not yet prepared to deal with those momentous decisions. They were a whole year away. We just wanted senior year.

SENIOR YEAR: HAND OVER MY DIPLOMA AND I'M HISTORY

It was finally here. We were actually seniors. Just three years earlier we were condemning the cycle which relegated us to the bottom of the totem pole. Now that we were at the top, we praised it. As seniors, some of us chose to take the traditional “stem” course schedule. Others among us elected the harder courses that were offered. Either way, our minds were elsewhere. For senior year not only brought us top status at SHS, it also brought us the unavoidable decisions we would have to make for our future.

Some of us had to choose a college. We were forced to fill out those ridiculous applications, go on palm-sweating interviews, and attend those boring, shallow campus tours. Those of us choosing to go directly into the workforce after graduation would also be faced with the rigmarole of those tedious applications and interviews. For many of us, the process left its sting: our energy level was decidedly diminished and our ego, somewhat bruised.

At this writing, we are midway through the year. With second term over, teachers are bracing themselves for the phenomenon known as “senioritis”, which is about to overcome us. This perennial attitude shift of seniors from concern to apathy unnerves our teachers. For us, it is the long-awaited chance to say, “Who cares?” instead of “When is it due?”

Graduation looms in the near future, await it with mixed feelings. Though it will finally bring the freedom we have so longed for, it will also bring an uncertain future. Hopefully, we will all make out fine. One thing is certain: these four years have been pretty good after all.
